

CONTEXT

A JOURNAL OF MUSIC RESEARCH

Number 22 (Spring 2001)

NATION & IDENTITY

Articles

- Alterity, Nation and Identity: Some Musicological Paradoxes. Annegret Fauser 1
- Music Criticism and the Exposition internationale universelle de 1900. Lesley Wright 19
- The 1889 Paris Exposition: Mapping the Colonial Mind. Michael Adcock 31
- 'Pleasure of a High Order.' Paolo Giorza and Music at Sydney's 1879 International Exhibition. Roslyn Maguire 41
- 'Turning the Wilderness into Flowers.' Music as Triumph at Australia's International Exhibitions, 1879–1888. Jennifer Royle 51
- Igor Stravinsky, Spanish Catholicism and Generalísimo Franco. Michael Christoforidis 61
- Meyerbeer, Judaism and French Music Criticism of the 1830s. Kerry Murphy 69
- Love and Loss, Homosexuality and Pacifism in Tippett's Song Cycle The Heart's Assurance (1950–51). Suzanne Robinson 79
- Jean-Paul Sartre, René Leibowitz, and the Musician's Conscience. Mark Carroll 89
- History As Identity Politics: The Case of Mid Nineteenth-Century Germany. Karl Kügle 95
- The 'Nationalising' of Folk Song in Nineteenth-Century Europe. Hans Kuhn 105
- The Creation of a British Musical Identity: The Importance of Scotland's Music in Eighteenth-Century Aesthetic and Philosophical Debates. Claire Nelson 111
- Modernism and Norwegian Musical Style: the Politics of Identity in Grieg's Norwegian Peasant Dances, Op. 72. Daniel Grimley 121
- 'Fresh and Sweet like Wildflowers.' Lucy Broadwood, Percy Grainger, and the Collecting of Folksong. Dorothy de Val 131
- Notes on Contributors 141
- Guidelines for Contributors 143