

CONTEXT

Journal of Music Research

Context is a peer-reviewed fully referred, international journal for all aspects of reserch in music and music-related fields. Context is produced twice yearly (Spring and Autumn) by a committee of postgraduate students from the Faculty of Music, University of Melbourne.

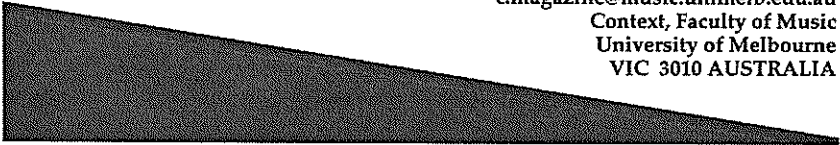

Now in its eleventh year, the journal has a reputation for high standards of scholarship and production. We welcome contributions (articles, book reviews, research reports and composer interviews) from scholars at any level and from any discipline.

Subscriptions (two issues): student AUD$22 individual AUD$33, institution AUD$44

A po-et sang, so light of heart was he, A song that thrilled wit

The image shows a musical score with three staves. The top staff is a vocal line with lyrics underneath. The middle and bottom staves are accompaniment. The lyrics are: "A po-et sang, so light of heart was he, A song that thrilled wit".

c.magazine@music.unimelb.edu.au
Context, Faculty of Music
University of Melbourne
VIC 3010 AUSTRALIA