Dear Parents

ANAPHYLAXIS AWARENESS

There is a student in our class who has a severe allergy to nuts and could suffer an anaphylactic attack if there is contact with or consumption of peanuts.

Cases of nut allergy and anaphylaxis are becoming more common and the response from schools is usually to request that students, within the class of someone with a nut allergy, refrain from bringing nuts to school.

In the interest of student safety we would appreciate if you would refrain from sending nuts to school in your child's snack or lunch.

Thank you for your support and understanding with this.
