

SHE COULDN'T BELIEVE HER EYES

“I want to go to the park Mum.” “Sure Daisy” said Mum. So off I went. When I got to the park I raced straight to the swings I saw clouds coming over me and lightning started. Then I saw a snake slithering over to me. I raced home as fast as I could.

When I walked into the Kitchen, Mum said “Can you please do the dishes Daisy?” “Yes Mum,” I replied but before I put the water in the sink I saw the snake again. “Ahhh ! Mum, mum! There’s a snake in the sink” I screamed. I opened the window to let the snake out but it was too late... BANG!!!

I suddenly felt YUKKY AND WET. When I looked down at myself I had no legs or arms and I was all alone. I crawled outside to see what it was like to be a snake and then I snuck inside. No one saw me. I went into my bedroom and the window was open. BANG!! I felt dry again. “OH, Thank goodness. I’m a human again” I gasped with excitement. I wasn’t a snake anymore.
