

How does mentos and coke react together

When you put coke with mentos it makes a big reaction and it is a great experiment.

After you push the mentos into the coke it starts fizzing really fast. Then the coke erupts out of the top of the lid and flows up high into the air. As it flows it looks like a candy cane. It shoots up like a rocket and it then rushes down in the blink of an eye. The tube of coke starts to drop down very slowly to the ground. This is when you know you have finished this experiment. The reaction is over.
