

THE TEACHING YEAR with Belinda Webb

Video Transcript

This transcript is of Edition #10 – What am I learning and why is it important?

Belinda:

00:00

Hi again. Now it's time to start thinking ahead for next year. Can you believe it? For some of you, this may be considering the options in teaching. If you're in a position to stay at your school, well done. This is the time for some professional development to strengthen your position and what you've learnt this year. Just begin showing some interest or taking on some additional roles within your school. For those of you who might be thinking about applying out or replying for jobs might show that you are considering extending yourself, putting your hand off the helping out things during this time as it can really impress your school whilst giving me more skills to add to your repertoire. Ensure that you're being honest with the school about your intentions. Your school's management team can assist with discussing with you, so be honest and open with them. Especially if you want their recommendations. At this point, every year you should stop thinking about what's next. You might like to challenge yourself with what's next and think about using this to reflect on what you can do to further improve your practice and what might be on the scope for you in the years to come.